Why write for Ages 9 to 12?

The joys we discover early can turn into life-long fascinations. That's why my books challenge high-level readers to open ALL the doors in their lives. Until we reach retirement age, most of us will never again have a window of time, energy, and brain power like this.

My books are about enjoying reading superpowers and imagining delightfully silly places, while discovering life's possibilities.

About the Author

Laurel Decher lives on the outskirts of a mid-sized city in Germany, between a medieval chapel on the St. James' Way and a boundary marker tree carved with a scary face. It's a little surprising, since she expected to live in Vermont for the rest of her life. You just never know when adventure will call!
